MCAULEY MIXES IT UP

On November 10, Mother McAuley High School joined the more than 10,000 schools across the nation participating in the seventh annual Mix It Up Day. The Day is designed to teach tolerance, encourage students to interact with new people and new situations, and to cross social boundaries.

Sponsored by McAuley's Unity Club, each lunch period included group activities and students were encouraged to meet someone new. By sitting at a new table, students make new friends and become more comfortable interacting with different kinds of people.

Several of the teachers also participated in the Mix It Up Day by switching classrooms and teaching subjects areas outside of their normal schedule.

Mother McAuley social science faculty member Mr. Oliver McSurley and science faculty member Mrs. Jan Wilson participated in Mix It Up day by switching classes. Mr. McSurley (center) taught the freshmen honor biology students while Mrs. Wilson taught the senior Geography and Global Issues class.
