Mother McAuley Catholic Schools Week Activities

To celebrate Catholic Schools Week, students at Mother McAuley created two distinct visual pieces that remind us of our faith and through this faith, how we touch the lives of others. The two projects are the Hands of Service and the Be-leaf Tree.

The Hands of Service demonstrates to the McAuley community the number of individuals and organizations touched by student service work. Each student participated in a week long reflection culminating with the creation of a paper hand representing a service project. A paper hand chain will be displayed along the Theology Wing showing the many individuals and organizations helped by McAuley students.

For the Be-leaf Tree each student wrote on a leaf something that they believe in. The tree is overflowing with their sentiments and is a visible reminder to all that we are people of God. The Be-leaf Tree is located in a main, visible stairwell and is nearly two stories tall.
